

To whom it may concern,

Las Vegas Motor Speedway has been renting metal detecting equipment from Security Detection for several years. Utilizing the standard walk through metal detectors and hand held wands was effective but quite time consuming and it created unwanted delays for arriving fans.

At our recent NASCAR event we decided to rent the Evolv system at our 3 main entry points. I was very impressed with both the efficiency and effectiveness of these units. The lines moved very quickly and the amount of secondary screening time was reduced significantly because the guards knew exactly where the alerts were coming from.

Randy Smith and his team set up the equipment to the level we wanted and made sure the units functioned flawlessly all weekend. The fact that a fan can access the ticket gates in less than 2 minutes even with a large crowd is very impressive and I am certain we will continue to use this technology at our next event. I highly recommend their service.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "D. Stetzer", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

David Stetzer

Vice President of Event Operations